RE: Lot Combination

This letter is in response to your request for a letter stating that the lot combination that had been previously approved would still be applicable upon the sale of the property. I appreciate you taking the time to stop by the office and explain the situation to me in person. As your lot combination was previously reviewed and approved, the approval is still applicable unless changes have been made. Any comments made or requirements made at the time of approval still apply. If the planning department requires a re-submittal or a re-review of this lot combination then this letter is void.

If development occurs on the property, all local and county rules and procedures must be followed including site plan submittals and/or construction plan submittals as applicable.

Sincerely,

Brandon Thueson
