

Mendoza, Scott P.

From: Steve Clarke [sdclarke@oValley.net]
Sent: Friday, October 07, 2011 2:45 PM
To: Mendoza, Scott P.
Subject: [Released by Allowed List] FW: New Agritourism Term

Scott, feedback unedited. Steve

From: Frank Cumberland [<mailto:frankc@xmission.com>]
Sent: Friday, October 07, 2011 1:44 AM
To: Steve Clarke
Subject: Re: New Agritourism Term

Steve

We're in Europe until the end of the month, so this will be short. I honestly suspect this may be a joke, something out of The Onion or some such, so it needs to be checked out before we hit the national papers with another "Guess what they've done in Utah THIS time!" article.

On the off chance it is serious, I don't think we should go out of our way to accomodate the idea. If it is true, it is among the most obnoxious concepts I have ever encountered.

F

Feel free to forward to Scott

Sent from my iPad

On Oct 6, 2011, at 4:26 PM, "Steve Clarke" <sdclarke@oValley.net> wrote:

GEM Committee members, as you remember we have cautioned against private campgrounds as an agri-tourism use under most conditions. I was unfamiliar with "Glamping", but Scott is now considering this as a camping use and is asking for our input. What do I think?... It's not what I think of as camping. It certainly would not compete with the FS South Fork River camping experience, but for some it would appeal. Ideas on farm size?... I'd suggest it be managed like the overnight farm stays which use permanent cabins. I found the web site interesting.

I visualize glamping as a use in areas where privacy is not an issue, as opposed to a glamping site in the middle of a hay field surrounded by single family homes.

I invite you to let Scott know your reaction.

Thanks, Steve

From: prvs=125999f9b6=smendoza@co.weber.ut.us
[<mailto:prvs=125999f9b6=smendoza@co.weber.ut.us>] On Behalf Of Mendoza, Scott P.
Sent: Wednesday, October 05, 2011 10:22 AM

To: Steve Clarke
Subject: New Agritourism Term

Steve,

Here is the new term that that we spoke about last night. What do you think? Ideas on farm size?

Glamping: An agri-tourism use/activity that provides the opportunity for agri-tourists to rent, on a nightly basis, fully furnished tents and sites that are characterized by furnishings, amenities, and comforts offered by a luxury hotel room. Furnishings, amenities, and comforts may include but not be limited to, luxurious décor, beds, linens, baths, veranda, spa services, concierge, dining and chef.

Also, take a look around the link below:

<http://www.pawsup.com/index.php>

Scott Mendoza, Planner
Weber County Planning Commission
2380 Washington Blvd, Suite 240
Ogden, Utah, 84401-1473
801-399-8769 (office)
801-399-8862 (fax)