RE: Western Weber Futures Public Involvement Process
DATE: September 12, 2018

Summary

This report is regarding the public outreach and involvement process that the commission tasked staff to conduct in the Western Weber Planning Area. Over the course of four public meetings and hundreds of comments, we have assembled the attached maps and the recommendations below. With this new information, staff are suggesting that the County Commission consider an update to the general plan applicable to the entire Western Weber Planning Area. The recommendations contained herein are a good start for that process, but may not come from a broad enough cross section of the public that a general plan update processes would.

Purpose.

This public involvement process was conducted at the request of the Weber County Commission to explore public sentiments about ways in which the Western Weber Planning area might evolve over time given existing conditions and projected future needs. A series of four public meetings were held. Each with a specific and different meeting format intended to help facilitate collection of information necessary as well as offer the education and information needed to move to the next step.

Public Involvement Process.

This process consisted of four public meetings intended to garner public sentiment about current and future development trends in the unincorporated area of Western Weber County.

The first public-comment meeting was held at the West Weber Elementary on March 28, 2018. Approximately 80 people attended. It was an informal open house that introduced this process and provided current trends. It also included a loosely guided charrette in which the public were given blank maps and comment cards on which to draw specific geographic concerns or write comments. A six question survey was collected at this meeting that helped staff understand the public's current understanding and expectations for development and development regulations. We received 36 comment cards.

The second public-comment meeting was also held at the West Weber Elementary on May 15, 2018. It was attended by about 40 people. It began as a more formal meeting setting in which staff presented current trends. The first drafts of the consolidated public comment maps were presented and explained. The maps were created based only on the comments drawn on maps or written on comment cards in the first meeting. The meeting then included an exercise where the public were asked to review the maps and mark items that they cannot live with or that they love. They were also given the chance to write and draw on the maps additional comments or concerns. In this meeting Survey #2 was disseminated. Survey #2 was also disseminated online to folks not in the meeting. One concern staff discovered about this is folks who were present in the meeting and received all of the information tended to answer survey questions through the view of market-driven forces and current trends in the context of existing private property rights. In contrast, folks who took the survey online – who were asked but not required to review the meeting material – tended to lean heavily toward a no-growth future regardless of what rights already exist or what development trends are already occurring. There were a total of 107 survey responses. 28 of them were meeting attendees, and the other 79 were online respondents. It is difficult to determine how the online responses would have shifted if the questions were answered through the same mindset of those who were present in the meeting. Despite the differences, there were still a number of similarities to help document a majority desire on a few subjects. Staff documented both types of survey responses, both separately and together, and used the survey information as well as any new information written in the meeting on the maps to adjust the draft maps in anticipation of the third meeting.

The third public-comment meeting was held in the Weber Center on May 29, 2018. It was attended by about 40 people and consisted of a presentation from staff, with an informal question and answer period. The survey responses from the second meeting were presented, as were visuals on how one-unit-to-the-acre density really appears at full build-out. Also presented were the new draft maps that accommodated the comments from the second meeting participants as well as the online survey respondents. In this meeting staff disseminated Survey #3, which was a quick eight question survey designed to flesh out whether downzoning is understood well enough to be supported by the attendees. With the information collected here, staff were able to hone in on a final set of maps that represent a general vision of the future of unincorporated Western Weber County. These maps were presented to the public in the fourth and final meeting.

The fourth public comment meeting was also held in the Weber Center on June 19. It was attended by about 25 people. In it, staff presented the final draft of the maps and presented how they were created through consideration of all comments offered in this process. Staff's presentation covered the political and social risks of mandating larger lot sizes and presented a couple of tools, like transferable development rights and purchase of development rights, as a method to help promote the desire of keeping open spaces without the challenges of downzoning property. An informal review of the maps and discussion was then held between staff and the public. There was not uniform desire for the proposed maps, with comments both in favor and against certain subjects. While unanimous approval may not be possible, the concerns expressed may underlay the need for more public engagement prior to any possible future adoption of new general plan maps.

Future Land Uses

As was documented in the 2003 West Central Weber County General Plan, there remains a dichotomy between large land owners and small land owners regarding the desired future density of the area.

Large Land Owners.

Generally, large land owners are a minority voice in unincorporated Western Weber County, but represent the majority of the open-land that creates the area's rural charm. Most large land owners who participated in this public process expressed their appreciation and support for their current rural way of life, but desire to retain their land/development rights offered by existing zoning. One reason for this desire is to plan for their financial future (and for the future of their posterity). Some large land owners have expressed a desire to never develop their property, but about 62% of large land owners – those owning more than 20 acres – would rather not have their development potential reduced.

Values of large land owners:

- We need to protect our property rights.
- We need to protect our ability to subdivide lots for our posterity to live here.
- We need to protect our ability to subdivide lots to supplement farm income.
- We need to find a balance between the needs of future populations and our current desire to remain a rural community.

Small Land Owners.

Generally, the small land owners were a vocal majority in this public process. Many of them have a heritage from the area and would rather not see it developed. Others have moved to the area for the rural character and loyally defend it.

Small land owners, who generally have little or no development potential on their own land under existing zoning rules, would rather not see the area developed any more than it currently is. They enjoy the benefits of their smaller-lot and its proximity to other owner's agricultural lands.

One of the greatest points of confusion that was primarily expressed by small land owners was a perception that development is sponsored by the County. A common sentiment was bitterness toward the county for "changing the rules" of development without public consent in a manner that makes developing the area easier. One element that has fueled this misconception is the modification of the cluster subdivision regulations in 2014. A number of folks believe that it is this modification that has led to the new development that is now occurring.

It does not appear to be widely understood that some version of the cluster subdivision ordinance has been in Weber County Code for at least the last 40 years. It is not a common conception that the developments currently being platted in the area are a result of a strong housing market in tandem with loss of developable acreages in surround cities – not a change in development rules.

Regardless, there remains a strong distaste for cluster subdivisions. It is not apparent that the majority are aware that the cluster subdivision code was changed earlier this year in order to permanently preserve agriculturally viable farmland. When some were informed of the changes they shifted their perception. Some even became strong advocates of clustering. However, many are still unaware and a few who became aware were unmoved in their desire for lots sizes no smaller than once acre.

Based on a host of public comments received from this process, many people are just beginning to understand how much development potential is entitled throughout their communities by the existing one-acre zoning development rules. When asked in Survey #2 whether they would support a government taking of development/property rights from large landowners (through downzoning) in order to preserve their rural community, the majority of small-lot survey respondents – about 60 percent of those owning less than five acres – favored doing so.

After a little more education regarding the significance of removing land rights from large land owners, Survey #3 found less respondents favoring a downzone. In its place there appears to be a strong desire to defend the community's current overall zoning density of one-dwelling-unit-per-acre of land, with about half supporting clustering dwellings onto smaller lots in return for permanently preserved agricultural open space and minimal bonuses, if absolutely necessary, to preserve farmland.

Values of small-land owners:

- We need to protect the farmland.
- We need to preserve our rural way of life.
- We need to reduce development potential.
- We do not want the total buildout potential of existing one-acre zoning or the suburban problems that it will bring, but we do like the existing one-acre lots intermingled with large farm-lots or other open spaces.
- We do not like density increases over that allowed by the existing one-acre zoning. If bonus density has to be used, it should only be used to enhance or support the rural nature of the community.

Staff Recommendation for Land Uses:

- Create a new Western Weber Future Land Use Map that designates small mixed use commercial areas (villages) at primary transportation intersections in Western Weber area, including:
 - The intersection of 900 South (12th Street) and the planned West-Weber Corridor (see also transportation recommendation to lobby UDOT and legislators to realign the West-Weber Corridor further west to border the currently-zone manufacturing area).
 - The intersection of 2550 South and/or 2200 South and the planned West-Weber Corridor.
 - The intersection of 1150 South (12th Street) and 4700 West.
 - Work with Plain City to determine their future annexation desires to the west and determine how to better plan for the intersection of 2700 North and the planned West-Weber Corridor, if any connection is desired in the foreseeable future.

- Do not allocate any more density rights to the Western Weber County area, except those reasonably necessary to preserve or enhance the rural feel of the area in contrast to the existing development potential of one unit to the acre density.
- Create a new Western Weber Future Land Use Map that prioritizes areas within 1000 feet of sewer for primarily large-lot (one acre) residential, or clustered residential that offers little impact on existing density allowances.
- Create a new Western Weber Future Land Use Map that prioritizes land not within 1000 feet of sewer as primarily agriculture, with some large lot residential.
 - Encourage the creation of a local land trust that can help implement a Purchase of Development Rights program wherein rights are purchased from existing farm land then permanently retired. The land may continue to be farmed.
 - Continue to monitor the public's level of support for the creation of a special assessment tax for the purpose of preserving open-farmlands.
 - Continue to monitor the public's level of support of downzoning certain areas.
 - Pursue the legalities of charging an impact fee for the long-term preservation of farmland.
 - Pursue incentives to encourage land owners to voluntarily reduce their own development potential.
 - Create new development regulations that will encourage less development to occur on farmland.
- If better supported by the public after more education, implement primary TDR receiving area as those areas being prescribed as a local village. This will create higher density housing in villages but reduce density on active farmland. Implement secondary receiving area as those areas within 1000 feet of an existing sewer system, or for areas capable of extending the sewer system to their development.
- Explore better land use configuration of the manufacturing area to offer a buffer between mixed use commercial and heavy manufacturing. Consider a tech park or other light commercial or manufacturing in that area.

Public Comments Regarding Future Transportation

The future of transportation was not as controversial as land uses. One consistent theme was that the public are not interested in developing the public transportation too far ahead of development patterns. As development occurs, the County should look to developers to create new streets on section lines to fill in the street grid network.

There was strong advocacy for widening existing streets to accommodate shoulders capable of supporting a variety of road users – not just cars. There was very little support for allowing developers to choose where future streets should be located. About 25 percent of survey respondents wanted to see more public transportation options.

Out of 107 survey responses there were zero respondents who suggested that as the area grows, motor vehicle travel is the only priority mode of transportation desired. There is strong support for bicycle lanes (or at least shoulders to accommodate them) and for every major street to have a sidewalk or street-adjacent pathway to accommodate active transportation.

Regarding street construction and cross sections, extended shoulders, multi-use pathways, bike lanes, street trees, and curb-less edges (using swales for drainage) are all favored over other alternatives.

Other major street concerns included:

- A need for a return loop from Little Mountain so that 900 South does not need to accommodate all the traffic.
- A strong advocacy for applying pressure on UDOT and the State to move the planned West Weber Corridor westward to intersect with the manufacturing area of Little Mountain and not cut through current active farmland.

Staff Recommendation for Transportation:

- Actively influence the State and UDOT's planning of the West-Weber Corridor to move the proposed alignment westward to better connect to the Little Mountain manufacturing areas and avoid the prime agricultural land on which the alignment is currently planned.
- If the West-Weber Corridor is created, pursue funding opportunities to extend 2550 South, 2200 South, and 2700 North to it, effectively linking all I-15 and West-Weber Corridor interchanges. Pursue upgrades to these streets to accommodate traffic needs.
 - Encourage the connection of 2200 South and 21st Street in and through West Haven.
 - Encourage the reconfiguration of the 2550 South and Pennsylvania avenue intersection in Ogden City in a manner that assists efficient connection between the planned West-Weber Corridor and I-15 interchange.
- Encourage the extension of 4700 West to a future 2700 North extension in Plain City.
- Support prior street-grid planning by requiring collector streets to be located on section lines whenever possible. Require new developments to preserve section-line street corridors for future street grid expansion, and, if the development renders the need, require these streets to be installed by the developer.
- Consider the need for a secondary collector street to the manufacturing areas near Little Mountain. In the event the County is unsuccessful in lobbying the State or UDOT to realign the West-Weber Corridor to the manufacturing area of Little Mountain, consider developing a collector street that extends north from 12th Street near Little Mountain and curves east to connect into 2700 North, 4000 North, or some other alternative connection that routes traffic to the I-15 corridor and alleviates traffic impacts on 12th Street (900 South). Continue to pursue programmed safety improvements to 12th Street (900 South) in the meantime.
- Pursue better street and pedestrian connections from Western Weber unincorporated area to Plain City and Marriott Slaterville, over the Weber River. Pursue partnerships with these cities to encourage interlocal planning efforts along these connections to ensure consistency of built environment.
- Require all new arterial and collector streets or existing street improvements, including pavement overlays, to accommodate the need for active transportation.

- When programming such improvements, diligently pursue planning, design, and funding of a 10-foot wide street-parallel pathway. If funding only allows partial segments of this pathway with street improvements, install as much pathway or future-pathway-supporting infrastructure as funding will allow, with consideration for future connections and extensions, and adequate safety measures. Call on deferral agreements when necessary to support the pathway improvements.
- Require the installation of a 10-foot wide pathway as part of an approved development along arterial and collector streets. Deferrals should only be available to lengths of pathway that are insufficient to implement quality pathway design at the time.
- When designing or improving street-drainage systems, consider creating drainage swales in place of curb and gutter. Increase right of way widths if necessary. Drainage swales have more public support as a characteristic that supports the rural feel of the community.
- When designing or improving arterial or collector streets, add sufficient shoulder to accommodate a variety of street users, including farm implements, equestrians, and cyclists. Stripe bike lanes on these new shoulders when sufficient width exists or can be created. Ensure proper sweeping of shoulders is scheduled into programmed maintenance.

Public Comments Regarding Future Parks and Recreation

Parks and recreation has the most consensus. The majority of the public want more trailheads, trails, and pathways throughout their community, including lining major waterways, canals, and rail-beds.

An interesting idea not previously contemplated was reserving a large chunk of acreage (approximately 2,000 acres) near Ogden Bay for a future regional park. The park will likely be in a dominantly natural state, with recreation trails and pathways running in various directions. Other popular ideas for this park are:

- Sport field complex
- Large open grassy areas
- Shade trees
- Running track
- Playgrounds
- Boweries and pavilions
- Picnic areas
- Pedal-cycle park
- Motor-bike park

There continues to be support for a greenway with trails along the Weber River. It may be appropriate to look to the Jordan River Commission to explore best management practices of such a space.

A dominant theme in parks and recreation is that the County must respect private property owner's desires to not sell for these uses. The county should not use eminent domain for acquiring parks, and should only engage good-faith negotiation with willing landowners, or acquire the land or land-right through the development process.

A fish pond near the Reese Park was mentioned a couple of times. It is not clear to staff whether there is popular support for this, but it should be noted that there were no dissenting opinions. More exploration of the public-will may be necessary.

Staff Recommendation for Parks and Recreation:

- Pursue funding mechanisms, including impact fees on developers, to purchase and develop a large Ogden Bay regional park. This park should focus on recreation, including sport field complex, large open grassy areas, shade trees, running track, playgrounds, boweries and pavilions, picnic areas, pedal-cycle park, motor-bike park, equestrian facilities, fishing, public restrooms, and maybe camping facilities similar to North Fork Park or Weber Memorial Park.
- Explore park fees and other necessary revenue sources to provide ongoing operations and maintenance. The trail system of this park should connect to other regional trails or public rights of way, with trailheads that offer public restrooms and parking.
- Pursue funding mechanisms to purchase and preserve a green-space buffer along the Weber River that will preserve the land from becoming developed and enhance the land as a recreational amenity. Work in partnership with the bordering cities of Plain City, Marriott-Slaterville, and Hooper City for logistics and implementation. Improvements should include:
 - An extensive regional trail system.
 - Benches and drinking fountains.
 - Picnic areas.
 - Connected regional or community parks.
 - Trailhead facilities such as parking and public restrooms.
 - Pedestrian bridges and accesses to nearby streets.
 - Public access to the river.
- Explore the public's support for creating a community fishing pond in or near the Reese Park. If supported, either explore funding opportunities to allow for the creation and ongoing operations and maintenance of a public fishing pond, or encourage and support a private venture that would offer the same service.
- Create regional trails/pathways along or adjacent to existing canal rights-of-way, the Weber River, the Little Weber River, other waterways, and railroad rights of way.
 - During development of adjacent property, require developers to preserve a trail/pathway right-of-way and, if reasonably related to the trail/pathway needs of the development, require the trail/pathway to be installed in the right-of-way.
 - Work with willing property owners to acquire a trail/pathway right-of-way.
 - Work with canal companies and/or the railroad companies to secure pedestrian accessibility within those rights-of-way, whenever possible.
 - Require adequate safety improvements during the development of these pathways.
- Create regional trails/pathways along all collector streets in lieu of sidewalk, as specified in the transportation recommendations.

Public Outreach and Education

It is clear that there needs to be more time and investment in public education regarding the likely development potential of the unincorporated Western Weber community under existing zoning. Some of the education we brought to the public through this process was viewed as County-run-advocacy for more development. This unfortunate perception caused quite a bit of anxiety for some, and as a result, they expressed more frustration and anger at the County. This stands in contrast to those others who understood the hard reality of how existing land-rights are going to affect the future of the area, with or without the County's oversight, and why it is so imperative to engage the process to better shape those rights for the betterment of the future of the area.

Staff Recommendation for Public Outreach and Education

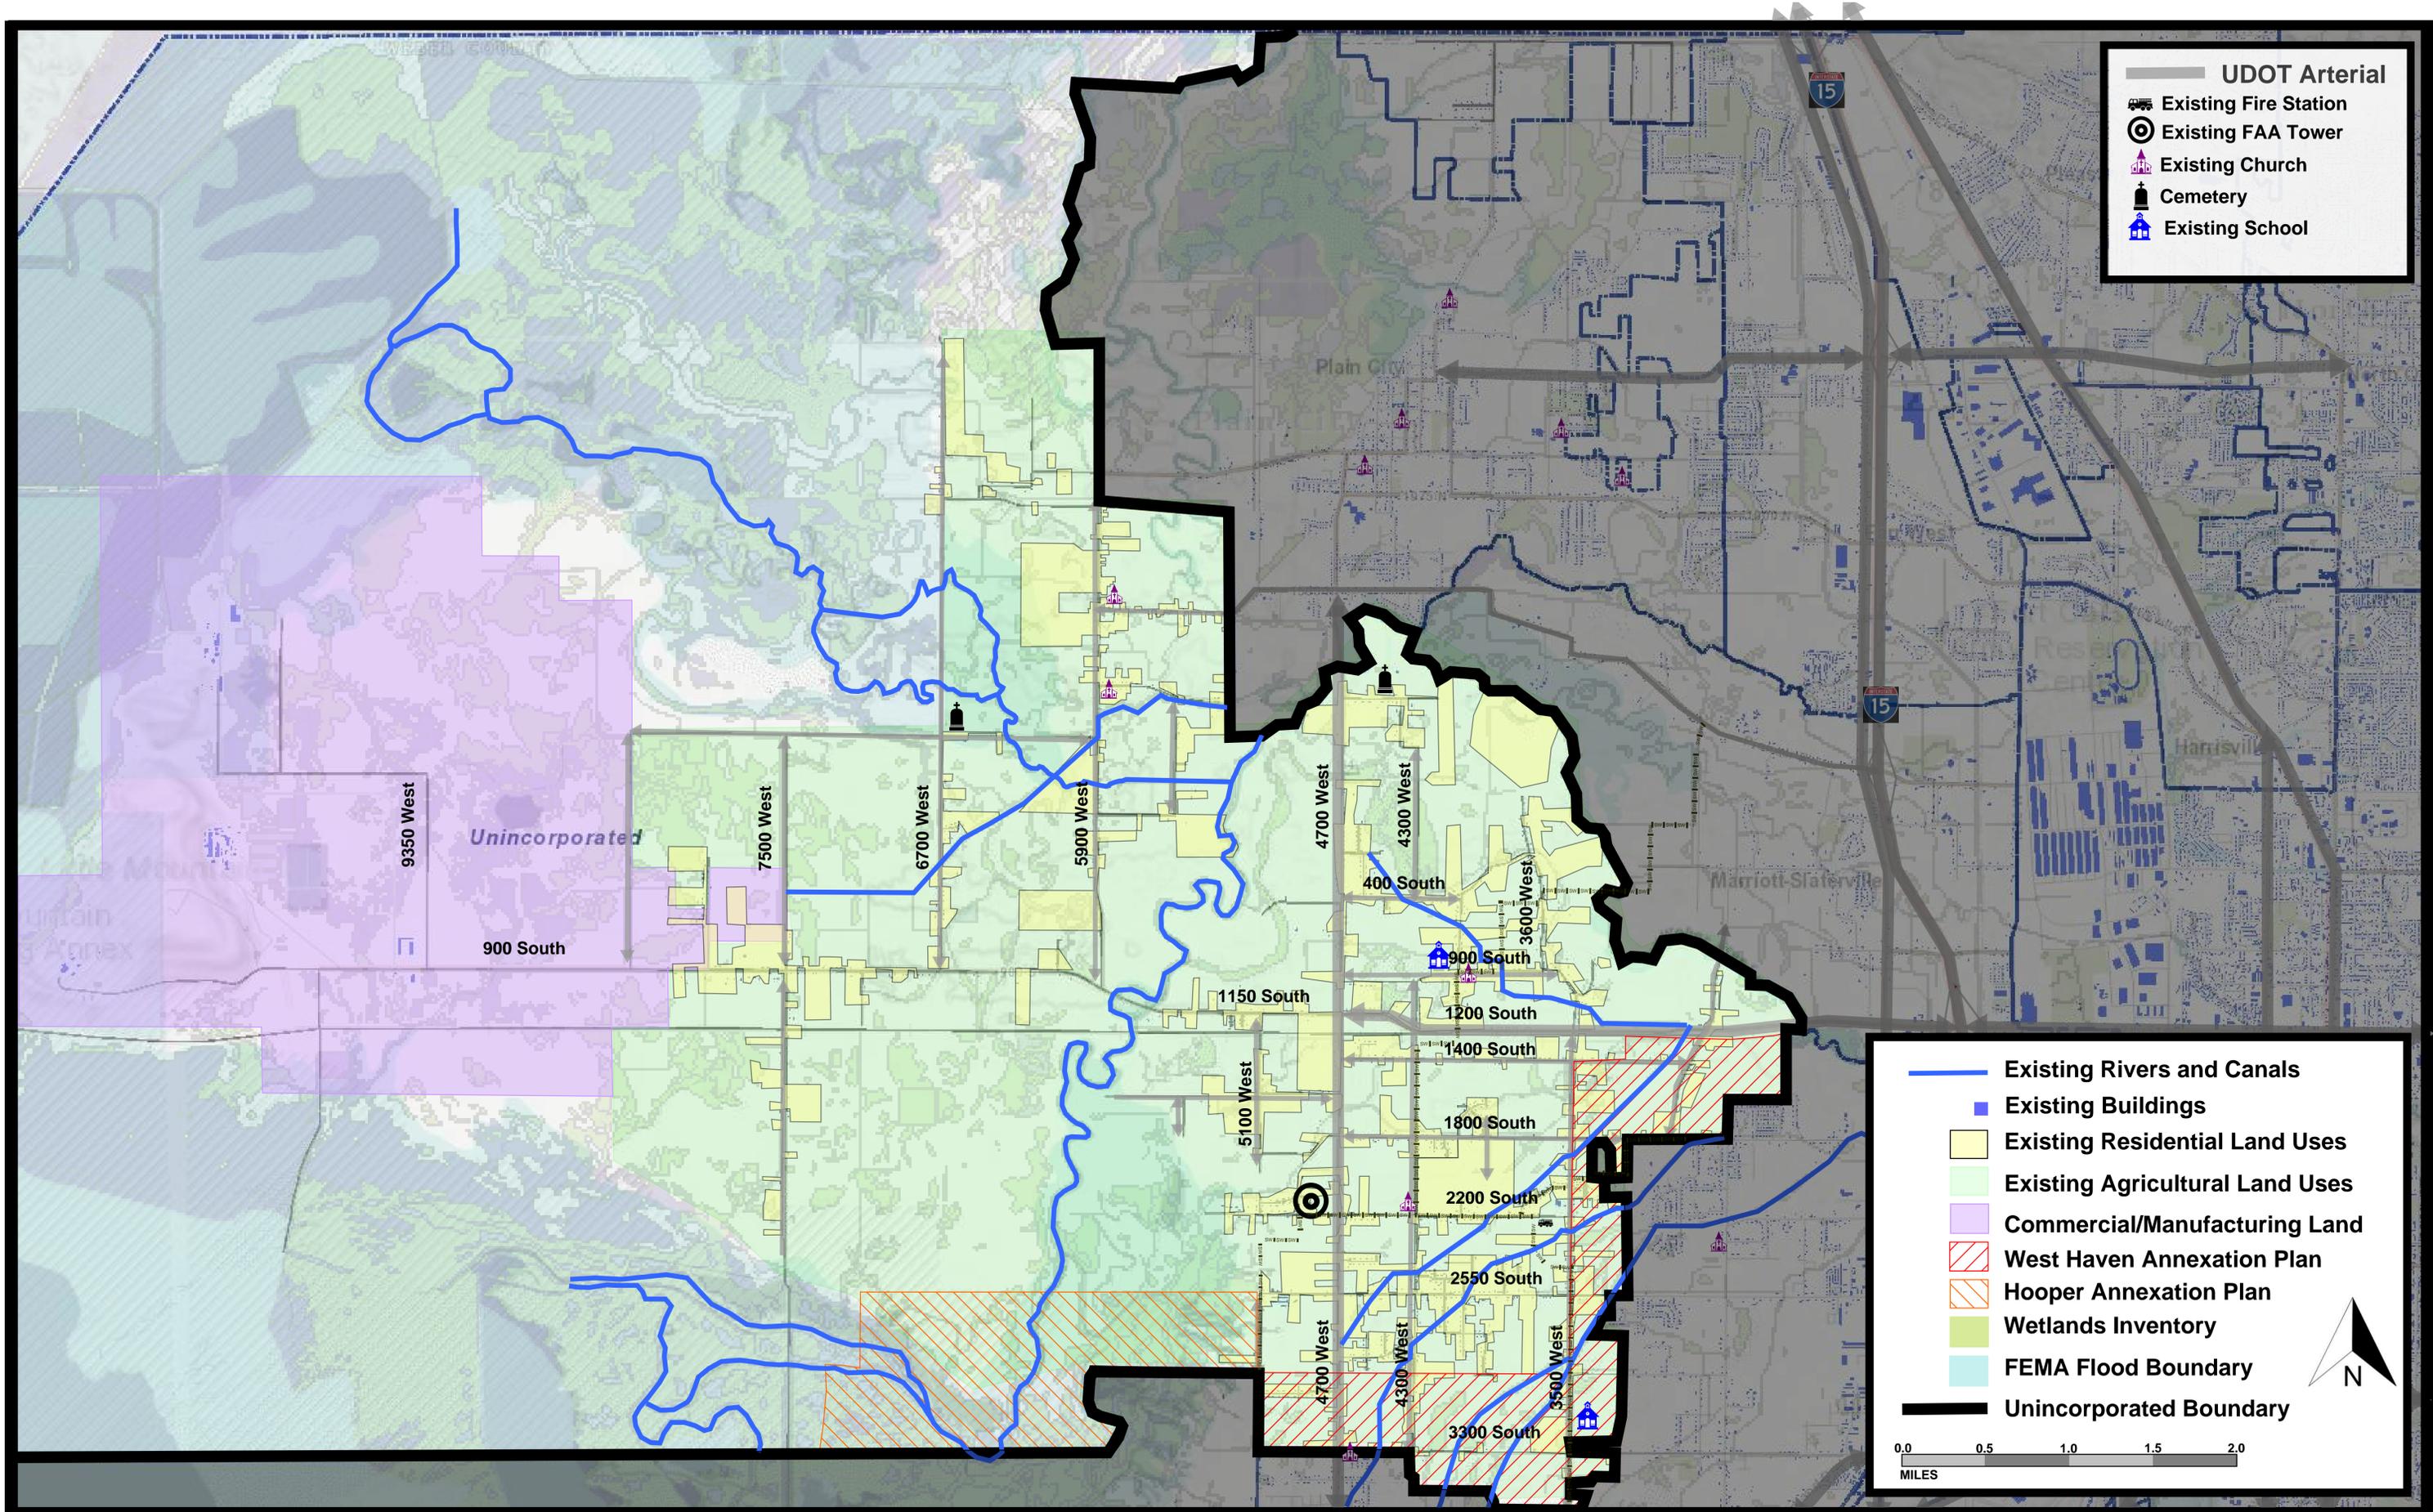

- Find more effective means of educating the public about the actual effect of the cluster subdivision ordinance
- Find ways to better educate the public about the actual effects of one-acre zoning (if continued to be allowed everywhere).
- Better educate the public about the benefits of a transferable development right program (TDR).
- Better educate the public about the benefits and methods of a purchase of development rights program (PDR).
- Explore methods to incentivize voluntary reductions in development rights.

Future Action

Initiate the creation of a new general plan that considers these recommendations and other considerations brought forth through that public process.

1	one acre lot ONLY !!!!! Save our Farms !!!!!	5/22/2018 8:29 AM
2	Yes I would like at least one acre lots and no special rights to make smaller lots to large scale developers. Minimum one acre lots but larger would be preferable. The reason I moved here is to be in the country on a quiet road not in the city.	5/21/2018 7:06 PM
3	We live out here because we don't want high density housing, we like living on 1 acre lots.	5/21/2018 9:04 AM
4	Don't want to see that much development	5/20/2018 8:05 PM
5	This is the most confusing question I have ever read.	5/20/2018 4:59 PM
6	We want 1, 5, and 10 acre lots to be the option. Not this high density housing that is being jammed down our throats. Why aren't 1 acre lots going to be an option?	5/20/2018 2:12 PM
7	I would be happy with 5 acre lots	5/20/2018 1:37 PM
8	DO NOT CHANGE THE ZONING TO SMALLER THAN 1-ACRE! THIS IS THE WAY WE WANT IT!!!!	5/19/2018 11:38 PM
9	Bigger lots don't mean a rural community	5/19/2018 5:06 PM

10	The agricultural land in Western Weber County is many peoples' livelihood. With land being zoned as residential, it costs more per acre, and is less likely to be purchased by another farmer, because residential land is do much more expensive than agricultural is. It also makes it difficult for up-and-coming farmers and generations to be able to purchase land.	5/19/2018 12:28 PM
11	This will keep the rural /small farm atmosphere	5/19/2018 8:56 AM
12	Septic needs secondary lateral field. I barely have that on my 1 acre.	5/19/2018 6:59 AM
13	We need to keep as much green zones as we can to help the planet	5/19/2018 5:29 AM
14	Western Weber County needs to stay rural and have tougher laws regarding	5/18/2018 11:09 PM
15	We moved out here for the country life	5/18/2018 10:07 PM
16	I don't think that less than an acre should be allowed	5/18/2018 9:27 PM
17	Like the way it is	5/18/2018 9:08 PM
18	One house per acre.	5/18/2018 8:37 PM
19	More clusters and PURDs. There are enough restrictions on land owners now. The land owners should get every Penny they can get. After all they are the ones that have paid the taxes and in many cases struggled to make ends meet.	5/18/2018 8:05 PM
20	These cluster subdivisions are taking away the rural nature of Taylor, which we've been trying to restore. It's also a huge impact on resources and schools.	5/18/2018 7:56 PM
21	I moved out here because of the 1 acre minimum lot size, and will fight to keep that the minimum lot size! The last thing I want is for this to become another Syracuse (where I grew up). Some people prefer the country feel, shouldn't there be a place that it can still be possible without the developers coming in to make a fortune and not even be a part of the community. They make their money by destroying what we love and then leave us with the outcome. This doesn't seem fair. I oppose most regulation, but in this area I am for it to maintain what the community wants.	5/18/2018 3:47 PM
22	I feel that the minimum one are requirement is sufficient to maintain the country feel we all moved here for as well to own large animals. I believe a developer should not be able to alter that minimum in any regard. The current sub-ordinance allowing building density for simply providing large non-building areas within a development absolutely goes against the primary ordinance requiring one are minimum. Stick to the primary one are ordinance please.	5/18/2018 2:50 PM
23	Residents live here because of the bigger lots and agriculture, not for dense housing. Smaller lots and dense housing only benefits developers.	5/18/2018 2:33 PM
24	Larger the lot the better no cluster!!!	5/17/2018 6:41 PM
25	I like my space	5/17/2018 4:34 PM
26	Loss of property value and property rights.	5/17/2018 4:29 PM
27	Cluster areas don't bring people who appreciate ag-land	5/17/2018 3:53 PM
28	I would like to see 5 acre lots.	5/17/2018 3:42 PM
29	There needs to be a good balance. No smaller than 1/4 acre would be ok. 1/2 acre preferred.	5/17/2018 3:04 PM
30	No larger than 1/2 acre lots. 1/3 is better.	5/17/2018 2:25 PM
31	If people want the farmer/cowboy lifestyle it should be available. I know the large lots cost more, but if people want it, it is their choice.	5/17/2018 2:14 PM
32	Mixed feelings	5/17/2018 11:19 AM
33	I want it left farmable	5/17/2018 9:13 AM
34	I'm on an acre now and I like the look/feel of my neighborhood. Homes on anything less than and acre do not have the space for additional sheds/garages or outbuildings. Small lot sizes should include restrictions on additional outbuildings and oversized garages.	5/16/2018 6:31 PM

1	Smaller lots are easily maintained and surrounding open space keeps the feel rural. As long as the lots aren't too small. If so, it just becomes low income homes.	5/22/2018 9:03 AM
2	cluster will not preserve open space No Cluster and Agriculture can mix and save our farms. get rid of cluster all together !!!!!	5/22/2018 8:29 AM
3	Small City packed together with only wasted land left as country is not the country.	5/21/2018 7:06 PM
4	Cluster housing will not preserve open space or agriculture, the wording in this "survey" in deceptive and objectionable.	5/21/2018 9:04 AM
5	Only if it preserves at least 20 acre continuous parcels.	5/20/2018 6:11 PM
6	Cluster lots will equate to more homes.	5/20/2018 4:59 PM
7	This is an oxymoron. No one will put agriculture on these open spaces! There are no water rights and no farmers will farm it. Please listen to the people who don't want this. Why can't we have 1, 5 and 10 acre lots available out here? Not everyone wants to sell their land for subdivisions!	5/20/2018 2:12 PM
8	This is deceiving. This will not create more agriculture. One arce lots will preserve more open space and agriculture because there will never be 16,000 one acre lots in Wext Weber!	5/20/2018 1:37 PM
9	THIS DOES NOT PRESERVE OPEN SPACE OR AGRICULTURE! THIS QUESTION IS MISLEADING AND SHOULD BE RESTATED UNBIASED!!! WE DO NOT WANT THIS CHANGED TO CLUSTERED HOMES!!!	5/19/2018 11:38 PM

10	It's the only way I know to keep open space	5/19/2018 5:06 PM
11	I'm not sure this would preserve the small farm	5/19/2018 8:56 AM
12	Smaller lots change the look and feel of the area. It loses the "country" feel and brings a different group of people looking for different things. With homes so close to each other it creates more of a city appeal and will bring people who want a "city" feel to the area. Thus wanting to bring businesses along with homes. That is the exact opposite of what those who chose to live here now want. Keeping the country feel is what is most important to those who live here now. We like the distance from the city. Don't bring the city to us!	5/19/2018 7:19 AM
13	Then it's like the city. And when rats get packed in, it turns ugly	5/19/2018 6:59 AM
14	Only with dedicated green/farm spaces of greater than 2 acres. Preferably 5	5/18/2018 9:27 PM
15	Roads are to narrow to sustain more cars.	5/18/2018 9:08 PM
16	Would like to maintain rural living	5/18/2018 8:37 PM
17	Depends on how much open space	5/18/2018 8:34 PM
18	In the near future ag will not be sustainable. Without farm subsidies. Only folks that can save is ag it's self. Sellibg developments rights may be a better way to ho.	5/18/2018 8:05 PM
19	That's stupid to let them do smaller lots! We moved her because of the 1acre rule. It was what drew us to this area. Smaller lots are not smart use of the agricultural open space area. If you want to live On a small lot move to a bigger city!!!	5/18/2018 5:32 PM
20	I'd rather have homes well spaced on 1 acre or larger lots.	5/18/2018 3:47 PM
21	These designs are never going to actually maintain an agricultural presence. The areas are typically a park setting or overflow drainage parcel. Since you really need a solid care to have large animals and somewhat of an area to actually have agriculture, having lots below that makes no sense. If only 10% of all lots in a development are capable of having a one are minimum, then the other 90% are simply a compacted HOA housing development that will not look or be able to be anything close to an open agricultural look or feel.	5/18/2018 2:50 PM
22	Only if open space and agriculture are actually preserved. It seems many developers say they are doing that but it ends up not happening and the open space disappears.	5/18/2018 2:33 PM
23	The open space it preserves is never maintained or farmed. I would support it if there were larger amounts of open space required per lot.	5/18/2018 2:33 PM
24	I believe that it is time to be planning for the future which should include smaller lot size requirements with some open space requirements. But not as much open space as is required presently.	5/18/2018 8:25 AM
25	But only if it does preserve agriculture.	5/18/2018 8:10 AM
26	This is a lie you will not preserve open space you clearly know nothing about farming! No one will farm small odd shaped parcels stuck between developments this is not what we want	5/17/2018 6:41 PM
27	Happy the way it is.	5/17/2018 4:34 PM
28	Clustering only leaves open space for clustering in the future. Doesn't leave open usable space.	5/17/2018 4:17 PM
29	Open space is stupid.	5/17/2018 4:11 PM
30	Open space too large to manage and too small to farm will eventually be developed.	5/17/2018 4:06 PM
31	Lowers property values. Increases policing.	5/17/2018 3:57 PM
32	Wrong!!	5/17/2018 3:53 PM
33	This doesn't save the farmland.	5/17/2018 3:42 PM
34	If done to utilize open space for agriculture.	5/17/2018 3:04 PM
35	1/3 acre is better.	5/17/2018 2:25 PM
36	I see only nice homes built where lots require one acre lots. This is what I want. Where land is cheap, cheap homes a poor quality residence follow.	5/17/2018 2:14 PM
37	Clusters mean more people and more problems.	5/17/2018 11:28 AM
38	Mixed feelings	5/17/2018 11:19 AM

39	That just leaves it open for more clusters.	5/17/2018 11:11 AM
40	Stay the same	5/17/2018 9:13 AM
41	I would like to see lot sizes stay at an acre or more, while still preserving corridors for open space. This might mean taking build rights away from land owners that currently have them.	5/16/2018 6:31 PM

1	Some ground is not farmable which is perfect for housing. The rest needs to be used for farming/agriculture.	5/22/2018 9:03 AM
2	Not for cluster sub divisions. Cluster and farms can not mix just look at what has happened to the south of Weber County in Davis county it would just turn us into a city like them. Not right or Fair.	5/22/2018 8:29 AM
3	Not in a flood plane, of which there are many. They could use the area that cannot be farmed. That would be beneficial to both parties.	5/21/2018 7:06 PM
4	I would like the farm land to remain farmland as long as there are people in West Weber that want to farm it, I am 39 and I intend to farm my land until I die.	5/21/2018 9:04 AM
5	We need to protect the most viable agriculture land. There is plenty of land that is not suitable for agricultural use. Wetland and environmental impacts need to be a priority.	5/20/2018 6:53 PM
6	Probably areas where there are already roads, not one lane roads. We don't want more roads. We want as little growth as possible.	5/20/2018 2:12 PM
7	Homes will be build, but they don't need to be built off the amir roads into giant subdivisions.	5/20/2018 1:37 PM

9	There are "wet" areas and some low areas that would not be suitable	5/19/2018 8:56 AM

10	Actually if the sewer was put in years ago the better farm land would still be farmed. Now a lot of our land is not prime soil, witch makes ag more marginal.	5/18/2018 8:05 PM
11	This area isn't well suited for residential areas (neighborhoods). The road system does not provide viable access to concentrated housing.	5/18/2018 3:47 PM
12	Areas supporting infrastructure, especially sanitary sewer should be areas initially considered for higher density. Then as build-out occurs infrastructure will be required to expand as well.	5/18/2018 8:25 AM

22	I would say no, but maybe something I don't know about either.	5/17/2018 11:11 AM
23	Residential development should avoid wetland, riverways and flood areas, even if the flood area is at '100' years.	5/16/2018 6:31 PM
24	I want it to remain the same.	5/16/2018 2:34 PM

Q9 Would you favor a transferable development right (TDR) program? A TDR program treats development rights similar to water rights, where they can be bought/sold/transferred between properties. This may allow the County to designate areas that are more desirable to remain open as the “selling” or “sending” areas, and designate areas more appropriate for more density as the “buying” or “receiving” areas. 1	No, cluster sub divisions will chase our farm community out no matter where they are built. Save our farms and STOP cluster all together !!!	5/22/2018 8:29 AM
2	That is making a small dense city once again not wanted.	5/21/2018 7:06 PM
3	This is a terrible idea and I object to it, transferring land and water rights should be illegal, it makes the land worthless to the next owner. Property and water should remain with the original parcel and should not be allowed to be sold off or transferred to facilitate more high density housing.	5/21/2018 9:04 AM
4	Not sure I understand the entire concept. Would need more information and clarification.v	5/20/2018 6:53 PM
5	This is an inaccurate description of a TDR (I'm an attorney). Please consider finding a qualified individual to review the content of any future surveys to ensure accuracy.	5/20/2018 4:59 PM
6	Designate all of this part of the county as 1, 5, and 10 acre lots.	5/20/2018 2:12 PM
7	You will take the best farmland with water rights and develop it.	5/20/2018 1:37 PM

8	THIS SOUNDS LIKE A LOOP HOLE TO PUSH THROUGH WHAT THE DEVELOPERS WANT. THEY DO NOT LIVE OUT HERE!!!! WE DO NOT WANT WHAT BENEFITS DEVELOPERS BUT NOT THE PEOPLE WHO ACTUALLY WANT TO LIVE HERE!!!!	5/19/2018 11:38 PM
9	Don't know enough	5/19/2018 5:06 PM
10	This would not allow the small /Family farm experience	5/19/2018 8:56 AM
11	This no more/less than saying the people with the most money benefit. Large land owners will use this to enable them to develop whatever land they want if they own enough of it	5/19/2018 5:29 AM
12	Don't trust the gov to have our communities best interest at heart	5/18/2018 9:08 PM
13	Not at all!! One set of rules Accross the board. By implementing a TDR system the county can still favor developers and by doing so the existing homeowners can never know what the future holds for their surrounding area. With a TDR system the government is picking winners and losers. All should play by the same rules and be required to abide by the zoning requirements. Would you want the county to be able to skirt the zoning requirements and build a high density subdivision next to your home just because they deemed it "desirable" for high density?? Remember you have already purchased your home, your only option is to now uproot your family and move because the county chose the farmland next door for development. And... how now has to bear the burden of the necessary development costs for higher density (schools, infrastructure, etc.) to support the high density... you do as your property taxes are raised and since you live on more land, you have to pay higher taxes than the new high density homes that you are now supporting.	5/18/2018 3:47 PM
14	I do not feel like we have the true integrity of the county seats that would make that determination and decision. Too easy for developers to get into a county seat and take advantage of the office and tax payers. There already isn't enough communication with the tax payers on developments in their area and the county seats making decisions without our knowledge. What happened to Town Halls by representatives to discuss future plans for their cities and towns.	5/18/2018 2:50 PM

16	But only so much as that these rights are available from properties that designated by their owners to be perpetually designated to some sort of preservation (i.e. Agricultural Preservation, etc.)	5/18/2018 8:25 AM
17	Don't fully understand	5/17/2018 4:34 PM
18	Cost would be prohibitive -- would limit future growth of the county. Farming will be gone in the future.	5/17/2018 4:29 PM
19	As long as it is voluntary.	5/17/2018 4:06 PM
20	Need to see more info.	5/17/2018 3:04 PM
21	I can see this as a farmer selling the development rights so he can continue to farm, then cluster homes built so others suffer. I had to buy land with frontage, so should others.	5/17/2018 2:14 PM
22	Don't know enough about it to say either way.	5/17/2018 11:11 AM
23	This would preserve open farmland as open space into the future, it would create less desirable density in neighborhoods, but the tradeoff has more pluses than minuses.	5/16/2018 6:31 PM

#	OTHER IDEAS:	DATE
1	Expanding 2550 and 12th street for major arterials is fine. Try and keep traffic moving on major roads and avoid small roads.	5/22/2018 9:04 AM
2	Put your 16,000 dwelling somewhere out of our Farming community altogether . Any one with a brain can see what this would do to our farms.	5/22/2018 8:42 AM
3	Universal center lanes that change direction in high traffic areas / times. This will utilize existing infrastructure as efficiently as possible minimizing cost to taxpayers!	5/21/2018 8:16 PM
4	Our community does not want 16,000 new homes. Traffic on 12th street has already increased significantly and we do not want to see anymore. Developers should never be allowed to plan streets, they will do it as cheaply as possible then they are gone and we are left to deal with the congestion. Weber County has a responsibility to use our tax dollars to fix and improve the existing roads that don't accommodate the current population before even talking about new roads for new developments. Public transportation in this area would be worthless, everyone drives a truck, no one will take the bus.	5/21/2018 9:22 AM

5	Developers do NOT care about the communities they are impacting...they should not have any say in future transportation systems. They are only in it for the money, they are not concerned with the impacts to any existing communities.	5/20/2018 7:01 PM
6	Curb and gutter and sidewalks are not desirable.	5/20/2018 2:15 PM
7	This is why we don't need 16,000 dwellings. You have got to stop it.	5/20/2018 1:43 PM
8	ALL OF THESE IDEAS ARE UNACCEPTABLE!!! IT VIOLATES THE RIGHTS OF ALL THE OWNERS AROUND THE PROPERTY IN FAVOR OF THE DEVELOPERS! THE DEVELOPERS DON'T LIVE HERE. IT'S NOT THERE HOME. THEY DON'T CARE THE EFFECT THE TRAFFIC AND PEOPLE WILL HAVE ON OUR TOWN. PLEASE LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS COMMUNITY AND NOT THE DEVELOPERS.	5/19/2018 11:42 PM
9	Don't add more streets. The more streets are added, the more people will build.	5/19/2018 12:30 PM
10	I don't like any of those ideas...	5/19/2018 9:02 AM
11	have developers present plans on the layout of their development. The county can then determine the streets impacted and the developer should pay part of the cost to make these upgrades	5/19/2018 5:39 AM

People should always drive. There is no need for pedestrian or bicycle infrastructure.	4.30% 4

Every street, including local neighborhood streets, should have a sidewalk or adjacent pathway to keep people out of the road.	19.35% 18
Developers should build pathways in each subdivision that allows pedestrians to connect without using the street.	38.71% 36

1	Its NOT UNAVOIDABLE its just greedy money people wanting IT !!!! Wake Up and save our farms !!!	5/22/2018 8:42 AM

2	The county cannot afford pedestrian and bicycle amenities in this area. Even if a developer does the initial infrastructure the cost to stripe the roads annually, maintain pathways year-round and replace crumbling sidewalks falls to taxpayers. The county isn't doing a good job of maintaining what exists now, it would be financially burdensome to mandate sidewalks residents must maintain on every road and in time West Weber will look like Ogden near the fairgrounds with uneven, crumbling sidewalks that are a liability and financial burden. We live in the country for a reason, we do not want West Weber to be a city. I would support a pathway for walker and cyclists being built adjacent to the railway line on 12th street that ties into the Ogden trail system and extends to Little Mountain for recreational use, but that is all.	5/21/2018 9:22 AM
3	You can't allow 16,000 homes in West Weber.	5/20/2018 1:43 PM
4	NONE OF THESE IDEAS ARE IDEAL. YOU'LL NEED TO COME UP WITH BETTER OPTIONS.	5/19/2018 11:42 PM
5	Provide sidewalks/pathways where it makes sense, understanding that more walkable, cyclable our neighborhoods are the healthier and less polluting they become.	5/19/2018 5:17 PM
6	Trails to encourage physical activity & safety	5/18/2018 10:10 PM
7	Keep it the way it is now	5/18/2018 9:17 PM
8	The developer should incurs all the costs that their development will present on the existing community. If they can't afford it, don't build the development!	5/18/2018 3:50 PM
9	Definite problem with the cyclists now -- esp on 4700 W	5/18/2018 8:11 AM
10	Keep out riff raff	5/17/2018 4:35 PM

9	I prefer 1 acre lot size and kids can play in their own land.	5/18/2018 8:13 PM

10	Public parks require public funds for maintenance and they are a magnet for unlawful behavior. If zoning requires 1+ acre lots, everyone will have their own "park" to play in, maintain and monitor.	5/18/2018 4:05 PM
11	Parks where general public gather also brings bad elements with it. Especially during night time and early morning hours.	5/18/2018 2:58 PM

14	School playgrounds are fine	5/17/2018 4:38 PM
15	But the community should help determine the size (the people -- not the growth)	5/17/2018 3:10 PM
16	When people own one acre land they have room to play in their own yard. Parks and playground exist at schools. If schools are needed the playground exists.	5/17/2018 2:22 PM

1	I really hate to say this but i really Honestly feel that we can not believe anything our commissioners say. I have been lied to by some of them many times. We need to get our county planers out and some that care about the people and will talk and work with all the people instead of just the people they like and benefit from one way or another! We have very dishonest planers that need to be remove NOW !!!!!!! I was blocked from even talking to one because of nothing I did but what her () friend she was working with told her and all he has done is lied to the commissioners many times. I would love to tell all that I KNOW but it would take at least 5 pages !!!!!	5/22/2018 9:16 AM
2	Keep development down.	5/22/2018 8:53 AM
3	Living right next to a current 180 home subdivision, I am not happy with how the developer was given his bonus density! The county gave too much bonus density just because certain requirements were met. I believe these requirements are too easily met. I also do not agree with the "INTENT" of the cluster subdivision. I believe it does not meet the desired intent of the overall public's opinion. Everyone I talk to in Western weber county (my neighbors) do not agree with the cluster subdivision idea in general. It needs to be removed as a viable option for developers due to the fact that every time this option is selected, they get such high bonus density granted & we (the existing residents) end up with more houses in our rural area than we like. The vast majority of existing residents came to western weber county because we like the rural atmosphere & higher density than 1 domain / acre takes away from this atmosphere. Developers will continue to build as many houses as the county lets them. I feel that our current system for development is hindering the very reputation that Western weber county residents have been proud of for generations. Let's fix it before it's too late!	5/21/2018 8:51 PM
4	Keeping country for the country to have farm animals and land to harvest to feed them is important. Weber country is one of the most dense horse owning populations and we need to feed those horses. We are not poor if we own horses so please don't chase us away with development.	5/21/2018 7:24 PM
5	We don't want parks and drugs runamuk. Pedophiles. Would you allow your grand kid's run around with all of the discarded needles on the parks?	5/21/2018 7:01 PM

6	I have lost a lot of my faith in the democratic process by participating in this process. My neighbors and I go to meetings and voice our concerns, we fill out surveys like this one that are not objective and have a definite bias in favor of the developers, but it has become very clear that the Weber County Commissioner are not listening to or hearing those of us that voted for them and have supported them in office. The county gets to check their little box saying they have done their due diligence and met the public notice and comment requirements under the law but the true intent of the public notice is being disregarded with deceptively worded questions in surveys like this one. If every single resident of West Weber spoke in opposition to high density development, the county would still accommodate the developer instead of listening to the long term residents and this is just wrong. A developer may make a large initial investment but after construction is completed they leave and the community is left to deal with a transitory population living in high-density housing and the repair, maintenance and reconstruction of the roads, sidewalks, curb, gutter, parks, pathways, trails, etc. Developments like the ones being proposed will erode our small community feel and unity. I would like to see West Weber preserved as A1 zoning with homes built on one, five or ten acre lots. Let one community in Weber County remain rural and preserve our desired way of life. If people want to live in high density housing they have options in every city in Utah but my family, my neighbors and I want our community to remain rural farm land. It has been in our family for over 100 years and I want my children to have the option of living on the land and raising their own food too. If you force this development on us in the short-term you will win, all the farmers will sell our land and move to Idaho where we can continue to farm and preserve our way of life, but in the long run you will lose. When every inch of northern Utah is developed without smart city planning everyone will suffer. When the people who grow your food leave how will you feed yourselves when hard times come again, and they will come. I would like to send a clear message to the developers who want to change West Weber, we don't want your development, we will fight you and make this as costly and difficult for you as we possibly can. Leave our community alone, you don't live here, this isn't your family's legacy and we would like you to stop trying to destroy ours for a few dollars. Weber County is as profitable as it is because of farmers and entrepreneurs like my family and my neighbors. When we leave, all you will have is the low income residents you have transplanted here and the entire county will feel the effects. I am respectfully asking that you abandon these development proposals in West Weber. We don't want them and if you force them on us it will be the downfall of our community. I am just one voter but I will never vote to re-elect James Ebert or Kerry Gibson again. They have lost the trust and respect of their neighbors and I regret every electing them in the first place and allowing them to put their signs on my property. I will be campaigning against them in the upcoming election and anyone else who supports high density development in West Weber and I will be supporting any candidate that will listen to the people and preserve our desired way of life.	5/21/2018 11:47 AM
7	Western Weber county was supposed to be and stay agricultural. Cluster subdivisions with houses on tiny lots with small amounts of preserved land aren't conducive to agriculture and farming.	5/20/2018 6:46 PM
8	Please consider having a professional marketing team develop the questions for any further surveys. This survey is written in an extremely poor and biased manner. Any data obtained from this survey should be considered invalid.	5/20/2018 5:12 PM
9	Thanks for opportunity for input	5/20/2018 5:11 PM
10	Why was 1, 2, and 5 acre lots never an option. I have attended as many meetings as possible. Why are subdivisions the only option? This is not what we want. Please listen and change the ordinance now!	5/20/2018 2:23 PM
11	Go back to one acre lots. STOP the subdivisions. We want one, five and ten acre lots, and a moratorium on subdivisions. Please listen and make this an option!!!	5/20/2018 1:58 PM
12	THIS SURVEY WAS VERY BIAS. IT'S WRITTEN IN FAVOR OF THE DEVELOPER AND NOT REALLY THE LANDOWNERS. THE DEVELOPERS DON'T LIVE HERE. THEY ARE MAKING MONEY OF THE NICE COMMUNITY WE LIVE IN AND WILL MAKE US WANT TO MOVE AWAY FROM LAND THAT'S BEEN IN OUR FAMILIES FOR GENERATIONS. GROWTH IS INEVITABLE, BUT IT SHOULD BE ON 1-ACRE LOTS THE WAY IT'S CURRENTLY ZONED. IF YOU HAD WORDED THIS SURVEY WOULD YOU RATHER HAVE 50 HOMES BUILT ON 1-ACRE LOTS OR 650 HOMES WITH A PARK. WHICH IS THE REAL QUESTION. YOU'D HAVE VERY DIFFERENT RESPONSES. THIS SURVEY IS VERY BIAS AND DOES NOT REFLECT THE VIEWS OF THIS COMMUNITY. TELL IT HOW IT REALLY IS. COMPARE WHAT THE COMMUNITY WOULD LOOK LIKE WITH THE CURRENT ZONING VS. THE CLUSTERING WHICH SOUNDS GOOD WHEN YOU SAY IT SO BIASLY BUT DOES NOT REFLECT HOW THIS WILL DESTROY OUR COMMUNITY. IF PEOPLE WANT TO LIVE IN CLUSTERED HOMES, THERE ARE LOTS OF OPTIONS FOR THEM TO CHOOSE FROM. IF THEY WANT TO LIVE IN 1-ACRE OR MORE LOTS. WE'D WELCOME THEM TO WEST WEBER.	5/19/2018 11:58 PM

13	I don't want western Weber County to look like what's happening in former ag areas in Davis County, a giant suburb. It's bland, it's wasteful, a homogenous mass of sameness with no character or identity. The future is beautiful, well-designed villages--including commercial, office, schools, churches, parks--surrounded by open space and fields. Builds community, closeness to nature, and a nurturing, safe environment. We work together, we play together, we worship together, we know each other.	5/19/2018 5:35 PM
14	I think there is too much development now. Let's slow it down. At least keep it to one acre lots.	5/19/2018 10:05 AM
15	We plan to live the rest of our life here and for our family to raise future generations here. However, if this area loses the country feel we will not stay. Our family has been in this area for over 70 years and future generations will lose that heritage. Doing everything possible to keep the country feel is of highest priority. I ask that Weber county please listen to the people living in the area and do according to that, not disregard all of our opinions and move forward with whatever agenda appeals to those with deep pockets.	5/19/2018 7:34 AM
16	When city moves to the country, you get complaints about smell, lack of stores, so on. Why are we trying to make the country conform to city, when in reality it should be the other way around. We live out here because it is peaceful, less traffic, the people are more respectful. Add a lot more homes and we lose that.	5/19/2018 7:08 AM
17	Leave us alone!! We are in the country for a reason!!! Go ruin someone else life!!	5/19/2018 6:43 AM
18	plan wisely, your future and that of your children, grand children and great grandchildren depend on it	5/19/2018 5:47 AM
19	Stop using projected numbers that are unrealistic. Worst case scenarios and assumptions create a bias in your survey.	5/18/2018 11:42 PM
20	I love West Weber and want it to be well cared for with no dense housing, more of a sprawling feel. Large lots, farming, and small commercial. I like the idea of parks and paths for my grandchildren. Thank you for getting my input.	5/18/2018 9:56 PM
21	there is not enough water available for all these homes. My husband has worked out on the lake for 40 years and at the rate it is shrinking, because it's all getting pulled out of rivers ditches and canals because of all this development is very scary. The lake is a main factor in the snow pack we get, less lake equals less snow which then equals to a lot less water for all these people. If you continue to let all this land be developed where are the vegetables and meat coming from? People from cities move out here and they all complain about the smell of animals and the noise in the early and late hours from farm equipment and the farmer is the one that has to change. Let this stay the country!	5/18/2018 9:53 PM
22	Western Weber is one of the last places country folks are welcome, don't change that. I've been here my whole life but at the rate development is being allowed, I won't be able to breathe. Where are my kids going to raise their kids with a country lifestyle?	5/18/2018 9:48 PM
23	I know this is coming sooner or later but I'm hoping for later.	5/18/2018 9:36 PM
24	People build high density developments because they make more money, needs to be away to make it beneficial for farm ground to stay farm ground	5/18/2018 9:30 PM
25	I did this because the June meeting will be my last.	5/18/2018 8:34 PM
26	1 acre minimum lots please.	5/18/2018 8:13 PM
27	As a tax payer I would be interested in seeing the overall results of this survey.	5/18/2018 2:59 PM
28	Western Weber County should be considering full potential build-out while planning for the future. Population growth is going to determine what WWC ultimately looks like. It is in everyone's best interest to plan on a build-out population so that the right infrastructure is in place to handle this growth. The fact is that the population is going to continue to grow. These are difficult challenges for most people to face, however, the things that are done now will make these changes easier and less costly in the future.	5/18/2018 8:32 AM
29	Currently 4300 W is not connected to 12th st. with current plans for development on 1800 S and 4300 W -- this road NEEDS to be reconnected to 12th st. There is an overwhelming amount of traffic already on 4700 W. This needs to happen NOW!	5/18/2018 8:15 AM
30	We all know this is just a formality to you money talks you have no interest in farmers or protecting our community you are just doing your due diligence and then you will push it through despite public opinion and turn our town into an over developed disaster as long as you collect your fees	5/17/2018 6:51 PM

31	The public's thoughts: Listen to the community not the money.	5/17/2018 4:38 PM
32	We do not want cluster housing. Small lots invite transient living. Transients live 5-10 years, move on. It does not invite staying and putting down roots. The one acre lot system is fine. It invites investing in your home and community. It invites staying and this is your home. It invites pride and this is home. Cluster housing just leaves area too add additional cluster housing when the first is sold through. You can see this is true when you fly into LAX. Cluster on top of cluster.	5/17/2018 4:23 PM
33	Cluster development ok in some areas with NO bonus density. Develop with the history and face of the community in mind.	5/17/2018 4:09 PM
34	There needs to be better public notice on all subdivisions and meetings. I think the developer should be required to post notice on his land -- that states his intention and meeting dates and times. There probably would have been a lot better turn out for this meeting if there would have been better notification.	5/17/2018 3:11 PM
35	1/3 to 1/2 acre lot sizes preserves agriculture more than anything with no open space. HOA with community area would fit better than just open area.	5/17/2018 2:28 PM
36	The rights of people who already live here. Allowing new developments or improvements that cause problems for current owners. Letting them raise the lowlands needs to be looked at. Our new neighbor took out his 1/2 acre (filled in) holding pond and raised all his land so that if flooding occurs it will all go on neighbor's properties. They need to not be allowed to come in and fill in the lowlands when they don't have a plan for runoff.	5/17/2018 11:44 AM
37	More river crossings needed. Do not funnel all traffic to 12th and 4700.	5/17/2018 11:23 AM
38	The farms and county living should be protected somehow. Change is eminent, but with more population comes more crime, more traffic...ect. We live out here for a reason.	5/17/2018 11:15 AM
39	We want our rural lifestyle protected.	5/17/2018 9:18 AM
